

JENNIFER OTT

What if a modernized, innovatory leadership style emerged from the outdated, myopic styles that exist today? One that encompassed the massive changes in the professional world, giving clear definition to successful techniques?

There is a specific, powerful, repeatable way the top 3% of mid-level managers have become more focused and successful. You only need this one, pivotal thing to revolutionize how you're trained, finally creating the ability to lead ANY person in ANY situation. It's called:

COMPOSITE LEADERSHIP

Management level professionals want empowerment, focus, and the promise of future career growth. Too often, they're given "one & done" leadership training and forced to fit into an outdated, prescriptive leadership style, leaving them guessing at the right way to lead – with underwhelming results.

What they need is modernized leadership training and ongoing development. Certified in Leadership Development, Training and Coaching, I help professionals develop the skills and mindset to become more productive, engaged and effective leaders.

JENNIFER OTT

Jennifer Ott is an Executive leader specializing Marketing, Strategic planning, Brand Development, Leadership Training, and a multitude of business development specialties. Throughout her 25+ year career, Jennifer has dynamically led teams in multiple industries including healthcare, financial services, consumer packaged goods, non-profit and training & development.

Jennifer's specialty as a public speaker and motivating coach has led to accelerated business results for her clients as well as foundational change in leadership development. She has the categorical skill of identifying business needs, structuring a meticulous strategy, and leading disciplined teams towards results.

Jennifer is also a member of the Wisconsin Leadership Board for the American Cancer Society, Founder of Fight Club for a Cure benefitting the American Cancer Society, and a breast cancer survivor.